

Gary Roach

I make art for satisfaction. I have a mental disability which prevents me from doing most things well but art gives me satisfaction.

I pay a lot of attention to accuracy because accuracy holds a lot of resonance for me. When I paint a portrait I want to not just render the person's likeness but convey their emotional state as well. I do this through accuracy.